The integral formation of the student is one of the fundamental functions of contemporary universities. The university has to train good professionals of the various branches of knowledge, at the same time that it has to facilitate the intellectual and personal development of the students based on some values and has to help them to build the seva capacity of the university. he reflected criticism per such that puguin interact in the society that they form part of with citizens.

In this sense, the university institutions must be able to offer some knowledge and skills that are socially useful for all students, regardless of the degree they are studying, and that have a transversal training character. Royal Decree 861/2010, in which the regulation of official university teachings is established, recalls this philosophy on transversal training, more than regulated teaching stricto sensu. In fact, article 12.8 establishes in this regard that "according to article 46.2.i of the Llei Orgànica d'Universitats 6/2001, students will be able to obtain academic recognition in credits for participating in university cultural activities, sports, of student representation, solidarity and cooperation. To this effect, the study plan will have to contemplate the possibility that students obtain a recognition of almenys 6 credits on the total of the plan, for the participation in the esmentades activities".

The UdL offers these knowledge and skills that complement the subject of 6 ECTS Transversal Matter that are included in the study plans of all grades.

Currently, the transversal Matter is divided into two large teaching areas:

- S t r a t e g i c t r a i n i n g
It is focused on areas of knowledge and skills that are considered substantius to strengthen an integral formation of the student, such as: entrepreneurship; scientific thought; the TIC's and the new technological platforms; and communication and written and oral expression.
- T r a n s v e r s a l b a s i c t r a i n i n g
It includes those activities of cultural and sporting interest; the actions related to the question of gender; cooperative activities; the activities that promote the acquisition of informational skills -bibliographic and documentation resources-; participation in congresses, symposiums and conferences organized at the UdL of a clearly transversal nature; així com, student representation and participation.
